

Borah Is Defiant As Farm Leaders Denounce Record

Split in Agricultural Ranks Is Caused by Rival Claims of Lowden and Senator Norris.

COOLIDGE SCORED FOR FARM COURSE

Senator Borah To Act as Soon as He Sees "Whites of Eyes of Candidate" of Opposition.

Washington, November 2. (AP)—A long-range battle in the middle west by use of the radio in the interests of its presidential campaign for Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, and its western legislative program, including farm relief, was mapped out today by the group of western independent republican senators.

The radio was placed at disposal of the westerners by Norman Baker, owner of a broadcasting station of 10,000 watts at Muscatine, Iowa. Baker volunteered also to erect a small station here by which to carry the group's messages to the Iowa station.

The independents projected these plans today while a showdown between the farm forces, led by Senator Norris, and those of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, was brought a step nearer by criticism by the St. Louis farm conference of Senator Borah of Idaho, a leader in the independent movement.

Borah Dares Farm Heads.

Informed that the conference regarded him as unfriendly to agriculture and resented his speaking for farm forces on presidential politics, Senator Borah, who has advocated Senator Norris' candidacy, called upon the farm conference to name its candidate.

"If they will push their candidate into the field far enough so that I can see the whites of his eyes," the Idaho senator replied, "I'll have something to say. I have no friend of agriculture will be misled."

While not commenting on the possible candidacy of Lowden, Senator Borah freely admits he expects the candidacy of Norris to cut the strength of Lowden. Both Lowden and Norris are advocates of the vetoed McNary-Haugen farm bill which was opposed by Borah because of the qualification for provision which he regarded as unconstitutional. But the independents have called upon Lowden, through Senator Nye, of North Dakota, to state his views on questions other than the McNary-Haugen bill, both in regard to farm relief and national issues.

NUNGESSER FUND SCANDAL HINTED BY PARIS PAPER

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Paris, November 2.—What has happened to 2,700,000 francs (about $108,000) subscribed by the United States and the American colony in Paris for the parents of Nungesser and Goll, the French flyers who disappeared during a flight from Paris to America, a Paris newspaper asks tonight.

"The scandal has lasted too long," says the editorial, pointing out that 796,000 francs was raised in New York, and 1,900,000 francs in Paris for the aviators' survivors, but only 12,722 francs ($500) was paid them, which is what Mayor James Walker, of New York, handed to the president of the municipal council last month.

Most of the balance of the money is deposited in a local bank, payable to Dudley Field Malone, who is in America.

The newspaper points out that M. Goll's father is aged 76 and his mother 70, and Mme. Nungesser is in straitened circumstances and is entitled to the money subscribed.

Leavenworth, Kan., November 2. (AP)—Frustration of an apparent plot to stage a wholesale prison break by blasting away the walls of the federal penitentiary here with smuggled nitroglycerine was announced today by Warden T. W. White.

Definite clues have been obtained, the warden said, to identify the prisoners involved.

The disappearance of 40 sticks of dynamite at the rock quarry outside the prison led to a search which resulted in the finding yesterday of a cache containing half a pint of nitroglycerine, six pistols, two boxes of ammunition, some caps and 50 feet of fuse.

Warden White said he was confident prisoners working at the quarry planned to smuggle the explosives and arms into the prison.

The nitroglycerine was obtained from the dynamite, he said, and added he was sure he knew where the pistols came from, although their numbers had been filed away.

Pint of Liquor Imperils New Michigan Law

Eminent Counsel To Fight for Man Given Life Sentence.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Lansing, Mich., November 2.—Michigan may lose its new code of criminal procedure proclaimed by law enforcement experts the country over as one of the most valuable pieces of crime legislation ever passed by a state, because of the existence on its statute books of strict liquor laws, it was disclosed through developments here today.

The criminal code provides for mandatory life sentences for persons convicted of four felonies, and even the most minor prohibition law infractions are classed as felonies in this state. This fact resulted a few weeks ago in sentencing of Fred Palm, of Lansing, to a life term in Jackson penitentiary because a raid on his home resulted in seizure of a pint of gin. It was admitted here by Harry P. Hittle, former county prosecutor, that he is planning, assisted by counsel in Cleveland and New York, to appeal Palm's case to the United States supreme court if necessary in an effort to overturn the criminal code and free Palm, who has been hailed by liberal leaders in all parts of the country as a martyr to fanaticism.

Oil Case Scandal Expected to Bring True Bills Today

Fool Wedding Story Denied By Van Loon

Historian Says Hard-Hearted Landlords Force Keeping Two Apartments.

New York, November 2. (AP)—"Twaddle" was the brief way in which Hendrick van Loon, modern historian, today disposed of stories of his ultra-modern marriage to Frances Goodrich, actress.

Living apart from his wife, said van Loon, who readily admits his 45 years and his two previous marriages, is a matter of necessity, in view of the hard heartedness of their respective landlords.

Miss Goodrich lives up town, while her husband has an apartment in Greenwich village, but neither can get away from the irrevocable leases which they signed the first of October, just previous to their marriage.

"We entered into no fool marriage," insisted the author of "Tolerance" and "The Story of Mankind." "We are sensible people and we married in sensible fashion. All these reports about artistic temperament and such, and silly experiments and no sharing of home, money and property are so much twaddle."

Van Loon's second wife from whom he was divorced in July, the former Helen Criswell, used to run a popular coffee house in the village, the "Madhatter."

Denny, Screen Star, Facing Divorce Suit

Wife Objected to His Entering British Army During War.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Hollywood, Calif., November 2.—Domestic difficulties, which started when her husband enlisted for the war with the royal air force, culminated today in a divorce suit by Mrs. Irene (Renee) Haisman Denny, British stage actress, against Reginald Denny, movie star. Her divorce complaint records Mrs. Denny's complaint against the enlistment of her husband because of the tender age of the couple's daughter, Barbara, who Mrs. Denny said, she did not feel able to support during the time of the war.

Other clauses in Mrs. Denny's complaint accuse her husband of neglecting her when he became famous in the films; failing to provide her with amusement and social life; and of persistently endangering his life and creating worry for her by flying. The couple were married in California in 1915. A property settlement, terms not named, was arranged out of court.

'Why Did I Do It?' Sobs Man Who Wrecked U. S. Oil Trial

CONDUCTOR SHAKES NATION'S FAITH IN JUSTICE

Washington, November 2. (Copyright, 1927, by United News.)—On a tan-blanketed army cot, dingy rooming house, sits a dejected, remorseful, forlorn man, J. Ray Akers, who stepped overnight from his obscure role as a street car conductor to a central figure in the Fall-Sinclair oil trial.

Akers supplied the tip that caused one of the most violent court upheavals in recent history. Why he did it, he doesn't know. It wasn't for money, for he received none for his information. It wasn't for revenge, for Edward J. Kidwell, the young juror involved, was his friend. It wasn't for publicity, for he shuns it.

"Why did I do it?" Akers asked himself, and he moaned aloud. He is plainly miserable.

In his flustering, inexperienced way, Akers is trying to plumb his soul and discover what caused him to make a midnight call to a Washington newspaper office, giving damaging information against his friend Kidwell and shake the nation's faith in uncorrupted justice as it has not been shaken in years.

Like a little boy who sees a stick supporting an imposing pile of stone, Akers gave the Fall-Sinclair trial a kick that brought the whole structure tumbling down. He pulled an innocent looking cord and caused an earthquake.

And now he sits, with hands tearing his hair, face downcast.

"Oh, God, why did I do it?" he moaned.

"I talked too much, too much," he chided himself.

"That is the question, why did you do it?" he was asked. "What caused you to do it?"

"I don't know," he answered as his hands tore at his already ruffled hair. "Why did I? I've talked too much—I can't talk any more."

"Was it because you thought jus-

A. Mason Day, Head of Sinclair Exploration Company, Refuses To Testify Before Jury.

JUDGE DISMISSES OIL TRIAL CASES

Juror Charged With Boasting He Soon Would Own Big Auto Quizzed for Several Hours.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, November 2.—Several indictments based on alleged attempts to "fix" the jury in the conspiracy trial of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and Harry E. Sinclair, New York millionaire oil magnate, which ended in a mistrial today, probably will be returned tomorrow or Friday.

Today's most sensational development in the new scandal was the flat refusal of A. Mason Day, head of the Sinclair Exploration company, to testify before the grand jury on the ground that he might incriminate himself. Day is accused in an affidavit by Assistant District Attorney Neil Burdickshaw of having acted as the liaison between Sinclair and the Burns agency detectives assigned to "make contacts" with the Teapot Dome jurors.

Day ordered to appear. Notwithstanding his claim of constitutional privilege Day was ordered to appear before the grand jury again tomorrow morning and was allowed to leave the courthouse only after he had assured District Attorney Peyton Gordon that he will make no attempt to leave Washington until the investigation has been completed.

Day was the last of several witnesses, including Edward J. Kidwell, the juror charged with having boasted he would come out of the Teapot trial with a "car a block long." Sergeant F. M. Dent, of the Metropolitan police, and a Burns detective identified only as "Meritt" or "Operative 014" to be summoned before the grand jury during the day.

Kidwell, taken into custody by federal marshals immediately after Justice Frederick Siddons had ordered the mistrial and discharged the conspiracy trial jury, waived immunity and entered the grand jury room asserting his ability to testify before the state grand jury. When he emerged several hours later under orders to return tomorrow for a further grilling, Kidwell was on the verge of a collapse and had to rest for a time in the district attorney's office.

Claims "Frame-Up."

In response to queries before he entered the grand jury room, Kidwell declared that the charge that he had "saw" an advantage for himself in the acquittal of Sinclair and Fall was a "frame-up." Asked what interest the newspaperman who made the affidavit against him could have in a framing, Kidwell replied that "any man will do anything for money."

Sergeant Dent is only one of the

FUNERAL CAR TURNS TURTLE INJURING FOUR

Mrs. Jeff Hosca Breaks Leg in Accident as Car Capsizes on Way to Near Roswell.

PARTY EN ROUTE TO CUMMING, GA.

Others Cut and Bruised; Two-and-a-Half-Year-Old Boy Badly Hurt by Unknown Negro Driver.

En route to a funeral at Cumming, Ga., four Atlantans narrowly escaped death Wednesday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding turned turtle in a sandbed just beyond Roswell.

Mrs. Jeff Hosca, 35, of 725 McMillan street is in Grady hospital with a fractured leg and possible internal injuries. Others in the car were: Mrs. Emma Galloway, 29, of 733 McMillan street, cut and bruised, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Galloway, also of McMillan street, bruised. Mr. Galloway was driving the car.

The party was on its way to Cumming to attend the funeral of Mrs. J. E. Talland, of Piedmont road, when the car hit a heavy sand bed and turned over. The injured motorists were brought to Grady hospital in an ambulance.

Edward Carrigan, Jr., 2 1/2 years old, of 239 Glenn street, was knocked down and seriously injured Wednesday afternoon by an automobile driven by an unidentified negro. The negro jumped out of the car and eluded a pursuit which was hurriedly organized, according to police.

Trades Federation Protests Against Delay on Viaducts

FRANCE IS READY TO OPEN TARIFF PARLEY WITH U.S.

Prepared To Establish Provisional Agreement, Then Definite Treaty, Note Says.

BY RALPH HEINZEN.

Paris, November 2.—(United News.)—France is ready to open actual tariff negotiations with the United States on the basis of reciprocal concessions, according to a brief tariff note which American Charge d'Affaires Sheldon Whitehouse received at the foreign office today.

The note offers the United States certain concessions for an immediate provisional tariff regime, pending further negotiations for a final treaty.

According to word from the Quai d'Orsay, the note says France is willing to return to the situation which existed before August 30, when tariffs on many American imports were raised.

The Franco-American tariff dispute arose on August 30, after France had concluded a commercial treaty with Germany, giving that country favored nation treatment and reducing the tariff on many of its products.

At the same time, the duty on many American products was raised. Shortly thereafter, the United States raised its tariff rates on certain French goods. There was an exchange of notes.

The note which Maurice Bokanowski, Minister of Commerce, gave to Whitehouse today defines the conditions under which France will open negotiations.

It indicates, according to the Quai d'Orsay, that France is ready to establish a provisional arrangement, then a definite treaty.

French offers concessions for a provisional regime by which the tariff situation would be the same as it was before August 30 on many, but not all products. It proposes minimum rates on all products which before August 30 paid less than the present minimum.

This concession is described in official circles as equivalent to favored nation treatment.

Tariff on products which paid higher rates before August 30 will remain the same.

In return, France asks the United States to suppress retaliatory rates recently applied to French products and also asks that the United States put into effect immediately all concessions which would bring about an accord.

Specifically, France asks suppression of investigations of the books of French concerns, and modification of customs regulations.

The Quai d'Orsay believes that if a provisional agreement is reached, a large majority of American importations would benefit by minimum rates, thereby paying slightly more than before August 30.

Regarding a definite treaty, France is ready to lower its tariff if the United States will make similar concessions.

France is willing to accord minimum rates, the note says, on the basis of the necessary diplomatic formalities, an official announcement of the appointment will not be made by the foreign office.

Resolution Passed Calls on Council To Expedite Undertaking of "Greatest Step Forward."

WORK IS NEEDED, LABOR HEADS SAY

Rail Officials and City Committees To Discuss Lowering of Track Contract at Meeting Today.

On the eve of a meeting of rail executives and city officials at 10 o'clock this morning to complete details of a contract for construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts to expedite beginning of actual work, members of the executive committee of the Atlanta Federation of Trades Wednesday night passed resolutions of protest against any further delay in starting the improvements, J. Sid Tiller, president of the federation, presided.

The resolution called upon council to exercise a broader vision in civic development, declaring that the construction of the two viaducts over the railroads at Whitehall and Pryor streets will be "the greatest step forward ever undertaken by the city."

giving work to the unemployed, benefiting trade, and doing more than anything else that has yet been done to bring the north and south sides of the city together.

At the meeting of the committee last night the question of delay in viaduct construction came up for discussion, it being brought to the attention of the committee that the various labor organizations of the federation were complaining of the continued delay in viaduct construction.

Text of Resolution.

It was agreed that the Atlanta Federation of Labor should put its protest on record, and the executive committee unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, the people of the city of Atlanta voted a bond issue of several million dollars nearly two years ago, a million dollars of which was to be devoted to the purpose of spanning the railroad crossings at Pryor street and Central avenue with viaducts, and

Whereas, there has been delay after delay in the completion of the plans for beginning this work, and

Whereas, the construction of these two viaducts would give work to the unemployed of the city, would be of immediate benefit in enlivening the channels of trade, and would do more than anything else that has yet been done to bring the north and south sides of the city together,

It is resolved, that we, the executive committee of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, protest against any further delay in the inauguration of work on this great undertaking.

The completion of this work will make the greatest step forward ever undertaken by the city. No public enterprise of this nature has been undertaken since the construction of the city's water works system compares in benefit with the advantage to accrue from this great undertaking which was overwhelmingly endorsed by the voters of the city.

Our city officials should take prompt steps to close all the details necessary to put this work

GRIFFIN BANKS FORM MERGER

Griffin, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—The first National Bank of Griffin was formerly organized yesterday when stockholders of the City National bank and of the Merchants and Planters' bank voted approval of action by the board of directors several weeks ago recommending the consolidation of the two banks into the First National bank.

Following the stockholders' meeting a board of directors for the new bank was elected. It is composed of the former directors of both banks and C. B. Thomas.

Directors then elected the following officers for the new bank: Gilman J. Drake, former vice president of the City National bank, president; O. S. Tyus, former cashier of the Merchants and Planters' bank; P. E. Arnall, former assistant cashier of the Merchants and Planters' bank, and Colonel L. P. Goodrich, vice presidents; C. E. Gunnels, former cashier of the City National bank, cashier, and Miss Fanny Westmoreland, former assistant cashier of the City National bank, assistant cashier.

Immediately following the meeting, the comptroller of the currency, under whose department all national banks operate, was notified that the First National bank was ready to do business. The comptroller will send a bank examiner to Griffin to inspect both banks and following his report the comptroller will issue a permit for the First National bank to function.

The first National bank will have a capital stock of $200,000 and a large surplus and will have deposits of over $1,400,000. It will be one of the strongest banks in middle Georgia.

SELECTION OF NEW MERCER PRESIDENT TO BE MADE SOON

Selection of a successor for Dr. Rufus J. Weaver as president of Mercer university will likely be made within the next few weeks when a special committee named from the board of trustees will be called to consider the matter.

A recent meeting called by Hugh M. Willet, chairman, action was deferred in naming the new president pending further investigation. One or more names will be submitted to the committee at the next meeting, it was said.

Membership of the committee includes Rev. W. P. Binns, LaGrange, chairman; A. R. Lovett, Savannah; T. E. Ryals, Macon; Dr. W. G. Lee, Macon; J. M. Harrison, Atlanta; Judge W. H. Davis, Waynesboro; Dr. W. A. Hogan, Lincoln; Thoms, J. Hamilton, Augusta, and Hugh M. Willet, Atlanta.

Dr. Weaver's resignation as president became effective almost a month ago, while Dr. A. P. Montagu, vice president of the university, is acting in his stead.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SEPTEMBER INCOME SHOWS GOOD GAIN

Southern railway's gross revenues for September showed a decline, while net income showed a somewhat greater per cent of increase. The improved showing is made in spite of the continued losses in passenger traffic, the decrease for September being 12.5 per cent. On the other hand, freight traffic showed an increase of $102,000, or 1.1 per cent. Freight revenues throughout the year have held up well and the increase reported for September shows the general business throughout the south is on a comparable level with a year ago.

More Made To Oust M. O. Dunning From Post On State Game Board

Savannah, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—Quorum proceedings designed to oust Marion O. Dunning, collector of the port of Savannah, and chairman of the state board of game and fish, as a member of the state board were instituted in Chatham superior court today by J. L. Stebbins, of McIntosh county.

The petition charges that Dunning holds an office of profit and trust under the government of the United States, and that "this is a sufficient reason which said M. O. Dunning should not hold the office as a member of the state board of game and fish and his appointment thereto and holding thereof should be vacated."

Judge McIntosh opened up a hearing requiring Dunning to show cause why the petition should not be granted before him at the Chatham county courthouse on Thursday morning of next week at 10 o'clock. George H. Richter, attorney-at-law, filed the petition as attorney for Stebbins.

If you are interested in the Second Baptist Church be sure and attend services next Sunday. Plans for Home Coming Day will be announced.

When painful skin trouble is healed after resisting many treatments

East Haven, Conn., March 17.—"I work at Electro Plating and have what is known as 'Platers' trouble.' Every Plater gets it more or less, but I am unfortunate enough to get it all over my body from my head to my feet. My skin just opened up into a million and one deep cuts, from which ran a nasty watery fluid. I suffered tortures even after many different treatments. I was very much discouraged for some time and had about given up all hope of ever being healed when I tried your Resinol Soap and Ointment. I immediately began to get better and today my face and the tender parts of my body are entirely healed without even a scar. I'll boost Resinol every chance I get and I wish everybody suffering from skin trouble, especially that caused by Electro Plating, would give it a fair trial." (Signed) Samuel J. Dykes, 303 Laurel St.

Resinol Soap and Ointment is sold everywhere. Write for free literature to Resinol, 100 West 17th St., New York, N. Y.

YESTERDAY, mother knitted while father played. To-day they play the game together. We see partnership all along the line—from sports to business, from airplane flights to the joint bank account, from the purchase of a house to the selection of a vacuum cleaner. But why the change? Are the women and girls of to-day really any more companionable or intelligent than their grandmothers? Or is it simply that they know more about the man's world, more about his problems and his sports, and so understand him better?

Here is one answer. In ever-increasing numbers—now in far more than a million homes—just as many women as men are reading The Literary Digest every week. Yet it has no "departments" edited especially for women. The story it tells is chiefly about what used to be called "the man's world". These women are earning partnership through common knowledge. That is why—

Two Million Women Read The Digest

Nothing will ever make man and woman just alike. A great chasm of mystery will always separate motherhood from fatherhood. Primitive instincts will always underlie the loves, the hatreds, the pride and the sacrifices that inspire or wreck the relations between women and men. But nothing can stop the rapid and steady expansion of the modern woman's interests.

What is more, she knows that she does not have to become like a man—to abandon her feminine charm and rich intuitions—in order to do a man's work or to enjoy an intelligent partnership with him in the tasks of to-day. Of the two million women who read The Digest every week, hundreds of thousands manage their growing families, love to wear attractive clothes, enjoy the luxury of motoring, or sports, or theatres and concerts.

But they are no longer satisfied to live in a world apart from their husbands. They want to keep in touch with the full adventure of life, as it sweeps before them week by week in The Digest. They want to form their own opinions—learn facts for themselves—scan the full human horizon with alert vision. But always, in their hearts, they are women—with eyes that hold great secrets, with loves that no man will ever quite understand. They are the mothers of American manhood—the active partners in America's untold future. Two million of them!

Ice Men Enjoy Southern Barbecue at East Lake

Transported into the real atmosphere of the south through the medium of an elaborate old-fashioned barbecue Wednesday afternoon at the East Lake Country Club immediately following an all-morning session in which the value of publicity to the ice industry was stressed by speakers.

Delegates to the tenth annual convention of the National Association of Ice Manufacturers were well into their program Wednesday night. Two more days of the convention remain, today and Friday. A feature tonight will be the annual dinner-dance at the Biltmore hotel. Wednesday was designated as publicity day by the ice men in their session at the Biltmore, and talks by John Benson, of Chicago, president of the Benson, Gamble, Johnson & Reed Advertising agency, and E. C. Bremier, assistant chief of the research department of the Curtis Publishing company, of Philadelphia, were of benefit in the discussion of reports of the advertising campaign in the various sections were made during the morning by the sectional vice presidents.

In making suggestions for future advertising, Mr. Benson told the men that "the ice industry must show the public that it is not letting its case go by default." He urged the adoption of a budget calling for $300,000 for national advertising next year, and recommended that even more be spent on local campaigns run in conjunction with the national campaign.

Mr. Benson said that it takes the public at least four years to become saturated with any major idea, and that a national advertising campaign should run for at least five years. The campaign can be effective only if conditions in the industry back up the advertising, he said.

On the conclusion of Wednesday's business session, the delegates and their friends were carried to the East Lake club, where a barbecue dinner was followed by an exhibition round played by Bobby Jones, golf champion. After this, the delegates and guests enjoyed golf, dancing and cards.

Today's session will be devoted to educational policies of the industry, with talks by Mary E. Pennington, director of the household refrigeration bureau; Dempster MacMurphy, chairman of the trade development bureau, and others. The nominating committee is to report and directors will be elected.

The annual dinner-dance will be held at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Biltmore with fun and frolic as the keynote of the evening.

The convention will close Friday with the "industry session," the final meeting being the annual directors' meeting Friday afternoon.

Agricultural Gains
In U. S. Since 1850
Shown in "Flashes"

Continuing a series of articles outlining the story of American progress since 1850, "The Flashes," house organ of the Texas and Pacific Railway company, deals with agriculture in the November 1 issue, just off the press.

The value of America's agricultural products has jumped from $500,000,000 in 1850 to over $8,000,000,000 in 1926, the article shows. Particular interest attaches to some of the figures about Georgia's great progress. In the production of tobacco, for instance, this state raised practically 40,000,000 pounds in 1926, compared to less than half a million in 1850. The increase in Georgia cotton production in the same period is nearly 1,000,000 bales; it is also shown.

Students Urged To See Picture 'Old Ironsides'

Every boy and girl in Atlanta who is studying history, art or in fact every person in Atlanta should witness the presentation of "Old Ironsides," the super-film now appearing at the Erlanger theater. In the opinion of Miss Mary E. Postell, assistant superintendent of Atlanta schools,

Miss Postell witnessed a showing of the picture Tuesday night at the Georgia Power company, and she expressed unbounded enthusiasm over the picture Wednesday.

I wish every child in Atlanta could witness a showing of this marvelous story of the exploits of "Old Ironsides" and see the bravery and fortitude of our ancestors manifested, which are graphically portrayed in this great picture," she said.

Miss Postell said the picture is one of unusual historic value and declared that it reveals in stirring detail the early history of the United States navy.

"I am not a regular visitor to motion picture shows, but as a specialist enjoyed every moment of this great picture," she said. "It possesses great historical value and is so thrilling that it will hold the interest of every child that sees it. I wish every boy and girl in Atlanta could attend one of the showings."

Miss Postell said it was well worth while for children to see the costumes, manners and customs of the early days of the country; the methods of fighting, the arms used and the kinds of vessels that were used in naval battles of that period.

"Personally I am certainly glad I was able to see this marvelous picture," she said.

Other prominent school officials have pronounced the picture to be one of unusual interest and of rare educational value.

Mrs. Price and other officials of the better films committee are enthusiastic over this picture and declared that it is one with educational value almost beyond estimation.

"Every person in Atlanta should see this picture at least one time," Mrs. Price said.

Manager Lewis Haase, of the Erlanger, announced Wednesday that in response to numerous requests, matinees throughout this week will begin at 3 o'clock instead of 2:30 o'clock in order to allow school children to see the entire film.

If Alertox Fails In Biliousness Call in a Doctor

This new preparation acts with time-clock precision in 60 to 90 minutes; gives one thorough elimination and no more; does not interfere with digestion, habit or diet, and guarantees to remove, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vigorous and alert, mentally and physically.

There are but a few of the many wonderful advantages of this latest discovery known as Alertox, which flushes the alimentary tract and re-establishes a natural, healthy liver and bowel action, and is much quicker, more palatable and far more effective than calomel, oils or other nauseating cathartics that merely goad the liver and work you to death.

Alertox also alkalizes the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause auto-intoxication. Get a bottle from your druggist, and if you are not satisfied after taking one dose get your money back. If your druggist cannot supply Alertox, sent direct by Crystal Carbonic Laboratory, Dept. 13, Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price, 60c.—(adv.)

If you are interested in the Second Baptist Church be sure and attend services next Sunday. Plans for Home Coming Day will be announced.

PUBLIC IS THANKED FOR AID TO CHEST

F. A. Wilson-Lawrenson, general chairman of the Community Chest campaign, expressed his appreciation Wednesday afternoon for the cooperation and efforts extended by all those who aided in the Chest campaign just closed.

Mr. Wilson-Lawrenson's statement, addressed to the citizens of Atlanta, follows:

"At the close of the official campaign for the Community Chest fund of the charities of Atlanta for 1928, I wish to express my very sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who in any way have contributed to the securing of the fund of over $420,000 in ten days, for the relief of the various agencies of the Chest for 1928.

"I would like to single out the large number of individuals and companies for the notable work that has been done, but unfortunately, the limitations of space make that impossible.

"I do wish, however, to take enough space to record my appreciation of the unusual work done by the Georgia Power company through its officials and employees. In 1926, 454 employees of the Georgia Power company contributed to the funds of the Community Chest. This year over 1,500 employees contributed more than $6,100 to the cause—an increase of over 500 per cent over last year.

"The total subscriptions from the power company and its employees equaled more than $21,000; this included a most generous contribution of $12,000 from the power company itself.

"Regiment No. 2, of the general division, led by Jackson P. Dick, assistant general manager of the power company, supported by a large number of his associates from the power company, led all divisions in the amount of money turned in and secured a large percentage of money over the quota assigned to them.

"On the board of directors of the Community Chest is Harry M. Atkinson, a citizen of whom Atlanta is justly proud. His work over a period of 40 years in bringing capital for the development of the state and this section again exemplified by his continued attendance at all meetings and luncheons during the campaign. His encouragement of the workers by his counsel, his generosity, his accessibility and graciousness was most fruitful, and his example in treading the streets of Atlanta the same as a humble private in the ranks, securing subscriptions to this fund, spurred the workers to still further efforts.

"Personally, I shall always have a place of affection in my heart for these workers, as well as for all others who gave of their time, their energy and their money, without stint.

"I trust if I should ever have the honor to lead another campaign for the city of Atlanta, I shall again be supported by the same generous and wonderful spirit."

HEARD COUNTY TO CARE FOR POOR BY NEW PLAN

Members of the Heard county board of commissioners have closed the almshouse in that county and will take care of indigent people under a plan advocated by the state board of public welfare, it was announced Wednesday.

Miss Rhoda Kaufman, secretary of the state department of public welfare, said Heard county is the twelfth Georgia county to abolish the "poor farm" plan of caring for indigent people.

"Heard county is indeed to be congratulated," Miss Kaufman said, "on going away with the old and unsatisfactory system of caring for the county's poor in a poor farm. It is the twelfth small Georgia county to do away with its 'poor farm' since the department was organized seven years ago, which, according to Miss Kaufman, means that scores of old people who a short time ago would have had to endure the loneliness of a typical 'poor farm' are today living happily in the home of relatives and friends.

"A second advantage," states Miss Kaufman, "is that the county will be free to arrange hospital care, perhaps in a nearby city, for those needing it, rather than attempting to provide makeshift medical care in the almshouse. A third consideration is the matter of economy for every county. Heard county has had the experience Mr. Crockett mentions, namely, that of saving the county money."

"Georgia has only 59 almshouses which, according to the number of counties, a much smaller percentage than most states in the union."

"The trouble seems to be in regard to the loss of football games," Dr. Cox, who heard all the evidence presented to the investigating committee, said. "Former Coach Morey in a 'pep' meeting told the student body he was hampered by the discipline committee and would resign, after the committee had discharged from the school two students, one of whom was a football player."

"We have learned that Morey has told the Massachusetts press that the reason he left Auburn was because the people of the south still are fighting the war of rebellion."

"My conclusion is that the whole thing is a tempest in a teapot. At the special committee hearing the faculty brought in strong resolutions praising the president for the great work he is doing. Class officers from the student body also spoke in terms of old-fashioned Auburn loyalty."

"I was present at and addressed a mass meeting of the students when local parties attempted to pass out and dried resolutions that bore upon the discord between the president and the students. Heavy opposition developed, but it was claimed that the resolution was adopted."

"The administration of President Dowell has been most successful. During its attendance has doubled and great improvements have been made in equipment and buildings in addition to enlargement of the school plant. A debt of $90,000 has been cancelled and the state of Alabama now is appropriating sufficient funds to take care of future expansion of the institution."

ST. SIMONS ISLAND TO GET LIGHTS SOON

Brunswick, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—Residents of St. Simons Island and nearby resorts will soon have electric lights, one of the greatest needs of the island. It was announced today that the new power plant had been completed and that the electricity would be turned on as soon as the various homes and cottages were wired and ready for their lights.

The plant was installed by the Sea Island Utilities company, a subsidiary of the Sea Island company, which is developing the island. Electric power will prove a great convenience for natives as well as summer cottagers on the island.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY PLANS SPRING MEETING

Plans for the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the north Georgia conference, Methodist Episcopal church, South, to be held here next spring, were completed Wednesday at the close of a two-day quarterly session of officers and secretaries of the organization at the Ansley hotel.

Mrs. W. A. Albright, of Atlanta, vice president of the organization, reported that 150 students were registered in the first leadership school, conducted by the society during September at Emory university, while 94 girls attended the society's summer camp at Camp Highlands during August, according to the report of Mrs. L. W. Awtry, of Arwath, superintendent of young people's work.

An interesting account of missionary work in the mountains of north Georgia was a feature of Tuesday's meeting of the society. The report was delivered by Mrs. Bert Winter, rural worker for the organization.

It was announced at the meeting that a sum of $1,000 had been raised for society work this year by the 13,400 members of the organization.

Dr. Cox Thinks Politics Cause Of Auburn Fight

That opposition to President Spright Dowell, of Auburn, is based upon Alabama politics and is being fomented within the board of trustees of the polytechnic university, is the opinion of Dr. William S. Cox, former president of Cox College at College Park and a prominent alumnus of Auburn.

Dr. Cox Wednesday returned to Atlanta after attending a meeting of Auburn's special investigating committee, speaking at a mass meeting of Auburn students.

"The trouble seems to be in regard to the loss of football games," Dr. Cox, who heard all the evidence presented to the investigating committee, said. "Former Coach Morey in a 'pep' meeting told the student body he was hampered by the discipline committee and would resign, after the committee had discharged from the school two students, one of whom was a football player."

SYNOPSIS.

On the way to Donald Brierly's house at Rubington for luncheon Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancée, tells her friend, Olive Watson, that Donald stands a chance of inheriting half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

Olive and Connie share a flat in London. Olive is secretly in love with Donald but sincerely pleased at Connie's good fortune in winning him.

Sandie and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Brierly of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting Augustus Brierly, Donald's father, presumed to have died on the Titanic, calls on Sandie. Querk suggests to Sandie that he invite Brierly to Harrowby house and there with the assistance of Querk's son, Wade, dispose of Brierly.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house, Mrs. Jones is out, but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and, going to investigate, she sees Sandie and another man kill Mr. Brierly, whom she recognizes from his portrait. Rushing out of the house Connie stumbles into Mr. Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderers. Connie sees a policeman and, calling him, the three proceed in the library and Connie asks Querk to open the secret panel in the wall where she had seen the men place the body. It is empty. Querk accompanies her to the police station, where she tells her story to the police superintendent. Querk intimates that she imagined the scene and, in exasperation, Connie goes to see Olive, who believes her story.

Querk requests Sandie to come to the superintendent's office and he presents his alibi, which the officer accepts. The two lawyers proceed to Wade's office, where old man Turle and his son, the spurious heir, await him. The old man dies just after they walk into the office.

The next morning Connie calls on Querk and meets young Jones there. She recognizes him as her old nurse's son, but does not know that he has been posing as Henry Turle, Jr. Querk later pretends that Connie imagined she saw young Jones. He tells Olive that Sandie is about to bring criminal suit against Connie unless Olive, as her nearest friend, has her committed to a private institution at Maenton which he recommends. While Donald is visiting Connie at Maenton house a body is found buried in his garden. Olive, sent out on the case by her newspaper, meets and warns Donald. She arranges a hiding place for him in London. Olive suspects Querk.

Olive gets a position at Maenton House as maid in order to help Connie escape and she discovers the nurse trying to poison Connie.

INSTALLMENT LAX.

THE CONFESSION.

Querk drew the phial from his pocket and placed it on the desk near Nurse Flecker—next to the packet of bank notes.

"This is a little remedy which invariably proves efficacious," he said. "It is almost tasteless in anything but water. No more than one teaspoonful should be given in twenty-four hours. It is untraceable once it has been consumed by the—ah—patient. And I think I can guarantee that at the end of a week your reports as to had nights and growing mania—"

"Ah-h-h!" It was a stifled scream.

"Dear lady, you interrupt," said Querk. "The symptoms produced are those of cerebral fever. At the end of a fortnight or so, given that the doses are skillfully repeated, there is no possibility whatever of discovering that the—ah—patient was not suffering from cerebral fever."

"At the end of a fortnight—?" she whispered.

A shudder shook her frame. She clasped her hands over her eyes.

"No," she moaned, and again: "No—no. Not if there were a million wrapped up in that packet!" she gasped.

For a moment there was a deathly silence, and then:

"My son loves me. He would rather lose his chance than let me have that on my soul. I will work for him and support him until he can get a footing somewhere else."

"Ah, nurse, that is interesting! On what will you support him? On your earnings as a nurse?"

"Of course."

For answer, Querk picked up the extension telephone and spoke to Wade.

"Get me the matron, Maenton house, please."

"What are you going to say to the matron about me, Mr. Querk?"

"For myself, dear lady, I have nothing to say about you that is not good. But mention of your profession reminded me that when I introduced you to Maenton house I was guilty of, I fear, a grave dereliction of duty. I gave you, and I would still give you, a perfectly good character. But I feel I ought not to have omitted to mention that one of his majesty's judges had—ah formed a very different opinion and had—ah—given voice to that opinion."

Nurse Flecker stared before her, her lower jaw dropping.

The telephone bell rang and Querk picked up the receiver.

"Is that the matron of Maenton house?"

Nurse Flecker was galvanized to action. She sprang up, caught up the phial and thrust it into her bag, then picked up the packet of notes.

Querk smiled.

"... I felt I must ring up to ask you personally how Miss Elmore is," he said with his normal urbanity. "... O, thank you so much. She is a very brave girl. Good-by."

"It is practically untraceable once it has been assimilated in a human system," he said slowly to Nurse Flecker. "But if any were left lying about—say, in an unfinished cup of tea—well, I need say no more except perhaps that a trained nurse found in possession of that particular drug would reasonably expect to serve a term of penal servitude. I feel sure, my dear nurse, that your instincts as a mother will prompt you to be extremely careful. Good-by. I have enjoyed our little chat immensely. Good-by. Good-by."

Querk returned to his desk. In a vase in front of him was a cluster of hot house orchids. He gently stroked their petals.

He was still contemplating the flowers when Sandie was announced.

"I saw a trained nurse coming out of here as I was passing and thought I would drop in," he said quickly as the outer door was closed. "Is there any news?"

"My dear Sandie, did you hope that the trained nurse had come here to tell me that the patient has been found to be perfectly sane?"

"No, of course not! I—"

"Of course not!" said Querk, beaming as if the other had solved a childish riddle. "Set your mind at rest, my poor friend. In a matter almost of days that poor little girl who has gone through so much anxiety will have—ceased to exist."

At the words, Sandie pressed his hand to his mouth as if to prevent himself from crying out. Then a sound like a cough broke from him.

"My God! You've dragged me into a nest of assassins! If only I had never set eyes upon you!"

"What's the good of that? If everything goes from this point on without a hitch you think the money will bring me any fun? Do you think I shall ever be able to forget those horrors?"

"Ah! This 'conscience' makes cowards of us all," quoted Querk.

Olive had found the interview with the housekeeper a good deal easier than she had dared to hope. In some thirty under ten minutes she was engaged and had agreed to stay and start work immediately and have her last farewell from the station by one of the house porters.

"As to dress," the housekeeper said, "the housekeeper said evening her somewhat severely, 'we provide you with a uniform. Come with me now and I will show you your cubicle on the way and get your uniform.'"

"If I might mention it, ma'am," said Olive while they were fitting her with a uniform. "I would be so grateful if Miss Elmore could be told I was here. I was in service with her best friend's mother at one time."

"I will ask Miss Elmore if she would like to see you—as soon as you are in your uniform," she answered.

DIET AND HEALTH

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M. D., Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children."

OIL, MY KIDNEYS!

There is probably no falsity harder to pry out of the minds of the majority of laymen than the idea that pain in the back means kidney disease. The numerous advertisements of patent medicines for kidney diseases, realizing that practically every one may have a pain in the back at times, have capitalized on this fact by associating back pain with the kidneys. Oh, My Kidneys! pictures of men, women and children have literally poured in millions of shillings into their pockets.

But the fact that these unscrupulous fakers got rich over the misrepresentation is the least to be concerned about. The thing to be concerned about is that many who did have kidney disease, and others who didn't have kidney disease, might have recovered under intelligent care, have actually died from their misplaced faith in the medicine, and others who didn't have kidney disease, might have contracted a kidney irritation from the drugs. Fortunately, the number of those who believe everything they read in advertisements is lessening markedly.

The technical name for the inflammation of the kidneys is Nephritis. (The termination -itis means inflammation.) It is most often called Bright's disease, in honor of Dr. Bright of London, who, about 100 years ago was the first to describe the condition.

The work of the kidneys is eliminating all of the blood and excreting the larger share of the soluble waste products (mostly the protein waste). In this way they help to maintain the normal composition of the blood and body fluids. If one kidney fails to be removed for any reason, the remaining one must come to the rescue by enlarging and doing double work.

The kidney cells are most often acutely injured by bacterial poisons and the bacteria themselves. They often get into the blood from infected spots anywhere in the body (such as infected tonsils, teeth, and nasal sinuses) and from the blood into the kidneys, such as scarlet fever, pneumonia, diphtheria, etc.

The kidneys can also be injured by poisons such as lead and arsenic, and by cold and other drugs, and unbalanced diets. Older says that a large proportion of the arteriosclerosis cases (hardening and degeneration of the arteries) is due to interference in eating. The blood vessels of the kidneys are particularly affected in this condition. You can see these two main points of infection, which we can directly control.

Acute Stage.

When the kidneys are acutely inflamed, they can do very little, and sometimes none at all. The waste water and the poisons which should be eliminated by them are retained in the system, and the condition known as acute nephritis results. (Nephritis means kidney disease, so the word literally means "inflamed kidney.") One of the striking manifestations of this condition is the appearance of blood in the urine, due to all of the tissues (edema), due

Water Color Exhibit Opens Today At High Museum

An exhibition of water colors by Albus Menaboni opens at the High Museum of Art, 1292 Peachtree street, today, to continue for two weeks.

Mr. Menaboni was born in Lezhora, Italy, about 75 miles from Florence, that city of inspiration to all artists. He studied three years at the Academy of Florence, and under the private tutelage of the marine painter, Ugo Montresori. He also studied with Charles Dondoli, of Belgium.

For the past seven years he has been in this country, filling commissions for architectural design and mural decorations in churches and public buildings.

Mr. Menaboni's water colors have been sketched in various countries, and are interesting in subject. His colors are subdued, although clear and clean; his technique is modern and elegant with pure transparent washes. These little sketches will afford much pleasure to the visitors at the museum during the next two weeks. Hours are from 10 to 1:30 o'clock on weekdays; 2 to 5 o'clock on Sundays.

To Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to make. Save about $2.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is, pine has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and sugar. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pine in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. If you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup, this makes a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, and tastes good.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Specially good for bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and hoarseness.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pine" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or your money promptly refunded. The Pine Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Girl Scouts Make Week-End Trips To Camp Civitania

I Have Said in My Heart

By IDAH MCGLONE GIBSON
BRICKBATS

One of the most interesting things about writing your opinions where all may read, is finding out the peculiar reactions that people have in regard to them.

Among the numerous letters that recently came up to me was one that might be of interest to someone besides myself, as showing how easy it is for some people to jump at half-baked conclusions. The screed was from a man who returned to me the little article entitled "Tradition," which I wrote recently. For some unknown reason it seemed the traditional red rag to the gentleman.

He seems to think that I voiced my hate of men in that editorial, for he says more or less vehemently, "The inclosed article is the most characteristic spile of the dyed-in-the-wool man hater which it has been my misfortune to read."

"The wonder is that you find it possible to live in the same world with such ignorant, unreasonable and degraded brutes as men. In your advent into the world you must, like Horus, have sprung 'fulfilled and perfect' from the brain of a goddess without any relation to or contamination with such beasts as men."

I much fear that the gentleman has gotten a little mixed up in his ancient mythology in the recent King Tut excitement, for Horus, who was an Egyptian and not a Greek god, did not spring from the brain of either god or goddess. He was the more or less legitimate son of Osiris, king of the dead in the nether world, and Isis, one of the celebrated deities of the Egyptians.

Neither Horus nor any other god or goddess ever sprang "fulfilled and perfect" from the brain of any goddess in all mythology, although it is said that Juno brought forth Vulcan from smelling a tomato.

Minerva, however, was born from the brain of the god Jupiter. So much for the correction of my critic's Greek and Egyptian lore.

I do not hate men, and perhaps, with the exception of my critic, men do not hate me. I have been married to only one husband, who was only divorced from me by death. I have one son who adores his mother and whom his mother adores.

I get quite as many letters from men approving of what I say from my heart as I do from women.

It is only once in a while that some individual feels called upon to pick up a little innocent article of mine which poked fun at the other sex for some of its illogical traditions about women and exclaims "How you hate men!"

The regular monthly meeting of the Guardians' association will be held in connection with the training course now being conducted by Miss Louise Holman at the Wren's Nest, on November 2, at 7:30 in the Tech Bible class room of the North Avenue Presbyterian church house. All Guardians and training course members are asked to reserve the evening of November 4, for the Guardians' week-end camp at Camp Highland. Judge Reunites New York Pair Seeking Divorce

White Plains, N. Y., November 2.—(United News.)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Aygar started on a "second honeymoon" for Atlantic City tonight, reunited by the philosophy of Supreme Court Justice Joseph McHugh.

He dismissed Mrs. Aygar's suit for separation with the statement that "people have passions and prejudices, and married couples will continue to quarrel in their homes; but until one or the other is affected physically, there is no ground for separation."

Aygar, a wealthy automobile dealer, has been married for 17 years, and is the father of three children. After the justice had finished his decision he turned to the couple and said:

"Why don't you two get together again?"

In ten minutes the Aygars had embraced and walked happily out of the courtroom.

Mrs. Aygar had charged her husband with cruelty, and the latter retorted with the allegation that she had neglected him during an illness.

BROOKLYN YOUTH HAS PRINCIPAL HALED IN COURT

Brooklyn, N. Y., November 2.—A new wrinkle in school discipline developed in Flatbush magistrate's court today when a 15-year-old pupil had his principal arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was dismissed.

Ralph Esposito, 15, charged William H. Rainey, the principal, with making him fight a boy of his own age, when he failed to sing the national anthem due to a bad cold. In the fight, Esposito declared he had received a blow which had pained him for several days.

Rainey explained that he had called the boy "yellow" when he refused to join in rendering the anthem with other members of his class, and that fighting was merely a custom of his in teaching his students to be brave.

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

During expectancy and childbirth many muscles, tissues and nerves undergo great strain and tension. Much of this suffering may be avoided by simple means.

The method is not a new thing. It has been successful for over three generations.

Tonight! apply Mother's Friend to the abdomen, back and hips.

It relieves tension and soothes the nerves. Do this each night and you will be amazed how effectively Mother's Friend aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily during expectancy.

"Everyone was surprised how well I got along," writes Mrs. Alfred E. Ammon, Muncie, Ind. "My pains disappeared after using Mother's Friend and I was sick only an hour and a half at baby's birth."

Start using Mother's Friend tonight and write for free booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" (sent in plain envelope). Mother's Friend is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

COLORADO MINING STRIKE AREA QUIET

Denver, Col., November 2.—(AP) Quiet reigned in the strike-affected coal fields of Colorado today as the miners complied with demands of the state that picketing be stopped. Governor Adams indicated that if pickets defied the order, national guardsmen would be sent to the mines.

Operators claimed large increases in their working forces at properties in the southern fields, and expressed the belief that the mine crews soon would be back to normal if there was no more picketing.

Although 400 striking miners at Walsenburg last night voted to picket, there were no demonstrations by the workers in that area today.

I. W. W. leaders, who called the strike, issued an official bulletin from the headquarters in Walsenburg expressing satisfaction with the situation and declaring that "we expect to carry on in the usual way, delegating ourselves to regular organization work."

The statement made no mention of picketing, but Frank Orr, publicity director of the organization, said that "we expect to continue to picket."

OHIO SITUATION IS DISCUSSED

Cleveland, November 2.—(AP) The executive committee of the Ohio Coal Operators' association, meeting here today, discussed the mining situation in Ohio in general, but took no concrete action. J. L. Good, secretary, announced that the association would send a delegation to the meeting.

While no statement was forthcoming from those who attended the meeting, the information was made that the Ohio Coal Operators' association, meeting here today, discussed the mining situation in Ohio in general, but took no concrete action. J. L. Good, secretary, announced that the association would send a delegation to the meeting.

The Ohio mine situation now is in a deadlock condition. Ohio operators have refused to meet the miners on any proposition that less as its basis wage the Jacksonville scale while miners have insisted that this be the basis of any parley looking to the signing of individual agreements.
